Introduction to Hampden-Sydney

Introduction to Hampden-Sydney

THE COLLEGE

Hampden-Sydney College, a liberal-arts college for men now enrolling 600 students, has been in continuous operation since January, 1776. Affiliated with the Presbyterian Church in the United States, it is located in the heart of Virginia near Farmville.

Its aim is to give to selected young men of ability a broad understanding of the world and man's place in it from the standpoint of the sciences and the humanities; to develop clear thinking through linguistic, scientific, and historical studies; to impart a comprehension of man's social institutions as a basis for the exercise of intelligent citizenship in a democracy; to unite sound scholarship with the principles and practice of the Christian religion; and to equip those with special interests and capacities for graduate study and research.

The campus consists of a wooded tract of 500 acres on which appropriate buildings, valued at $4,750,000, have been erected. The college is supported by an endowment of $4,000,000 and by annual gifts from alumni, friends, the Virginia Foundation for Independent Colleges and the Synod of Virginia.

The college holds membership in the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, the Association of Virginia Colleges, the Association of American Colleges, the Southern University Conference, the College Entrance Examination Board, and the College Scholarship Service.

Hampden-Sydney is a charter member of the University Center in Virginia, a cooperative unit of twenty-four of the strongest educational institutions of Virginia.

HISTORICAL SKETCH

The need for an educational institution with the location and general character of Hampden-Sydney College arose from certain forces that developed in the Virginia Colony in the last half of the eighteenth century. First among these was the organization, in 1755, of the Presbytery of Hanover, which covered not only Virginia and the Carolinas, but extended even over a large part of the territory which later formed the State of Ohio. The task of organizing and developing this extensive presbytery was assigned to a talented young clergyman of Delaware, Samuel Davies, who, after notable evangelistic work in Virginia, was called to succeed Jonathan Edwards as president of the College of New Jersey, and to John Todd, great-uncle of Mary Todd, the wife of Abraham Lincoln.

As a result of the labors of these leaders and their fellow workers the influence of active Presbyterianism soon began to be felt in Virginia. In the southern and central sections of the colony this sprang from a union of Scotch-Irish elements in Charlotte and Prince Edward counties with a mingling of English, Welsh, and Huguenot groups in Cumberland and Prince Edward, among whom the dissenting point of view in religion and a growing liberalism in political thought developed side by side. Among these groups the need for educational opportunity was keenly felt. The College of William and Mary, the only seat of higher learning in Virginia, was somewhat remote from the central and southern sections of the colony. This college was mainly under the influence of the Church of England; and, furthermore, as the hostility between the Colonies and the Home Government became more intense and threatening, it was thought that its location in a region of military camps, one that was likely to become the scene of future conflict, made its educational outlook unfavorable.

The Presbyterian clergy of central Virginia and the families of their congregations, feeling strongly the need of an educational institution for their youth, had made some unsuccessful efforts in this direction as early as 1772. In October, 1774, the Presbytery of Hanover resumed the undertaking. A plan for subscriptions to the cause was set up and the erection of an academy was authorized in 1775 on a tract of ninety-eight acres of land donated by Peter Johnston, a native of Edinburgh, who had been among the early settlers in Prince Edward County. The Old College Building, a two-story brick structure, was reared on the plot of ground slightly to the north of the present Hampden House. According to the original plan, the school was to be opened in November of 1775, but owing to delay in the completion of the building, a slight postponement was necessary. The formal opening took place on January 1, 1776, with 110 students in attendance under the direction of the first Principal, or Rector, the Reverend Samuel Stanhope Smith, a graduate of the College of New Jersey. As the number of students was larger than had been anticipated, it was found necessary to house some of them in temporary structures for the first session.

The institution was first known as both an academy and a college. It has been clearly shown by the researches of the late Dr. Joseph D. Eggleston, former president of the College, that in addition to the preparatory work that was being done, courses of full collegiate grade also were conducted in the first years of the institution's history. President Smith in his opening prospectus stated: "The system of education will resemble that which is adopted in the College of New Jersey, save that a more particular attention will be paid to the English language than is usually done in places of public education." He also announced that strong emphasis would be placed on scientific studies. Moreover, very clear evidence of the definite purpose of the institution "to form good men and good citizens" is found in the early stress given to speech training shown in the wide range of important public questions discussed by the students in their literary and philosophical societies, as well as in the somewhat profound and classical themes presented in their early commencement orations.

The name chosen for the college-academy symbolized the union of civil and religious liberty, the first element being derived from the name of John Hampden, opponent of the "ship money" tax in the time of Charles I, and the second from Algernon Sydney, a defender of religious liberty in the reign of Charles II. In 1783 the institution was regularly chartered as a college by the Virginia House of Delegates. A memorial from the trustees of Hampden-Sydney, suggesting this action, had been presented to the House of Delegates in November, 1776, but as the matter had not yet been urged with sufficient force, the Legislature had delayed in granting the appeal. In 1784 and 1794 tracts of land were donated to the college by the Commonwealth. In fact, it is clear from some of the correspondence between Thomas Jefferson and Joseph Cabell with reference to educational plans for Virginia that Hampden-Sydney was viewed, in its early years, as a definite part of the general educational system of the State and, accordingly, was deserving of some support through public appropriations. At the time of the general movement for the founding of the state university it was even mentioned as one of the possible locations for the institution. Although the college had been launched largely under Presbyterian auspices, it was not formally affiliated with the church. Among its early supporters were many members of the Church of England. The war for independence had aroused a sense of national unity and had increased among citizens of all classes a desire for educational advantages to fit men for the new and broadening opportunities that were opening before them.

From its beginning the college showed willingness to accept its full share of responsibility for the maintenance of the national welfare. On its first board of trustees are found the names of Patrick Henry and James Madison. Among its early alumni were William Henry Harrison, ninth President of the United States, Joseph Cabell, Jefferson's righthand man in his great educational work for Virginia, and William Cabell, the noted physician who attended Patrick Henry in his last illness. The charter of the college declared: "That in order to preserve in the minds of the students that sacred love and attachment which they should bear to the principles of the present glorious revolution, the greatest care and caution should be used in electing of such professors and masters, to the end that no person shall be so elected unless the uniform tenor of his conduct manifests to the world his sincere affection for the liberty and independence of the United States of America." Clear evidence of the reality of this ideal promptly appeared. The first student military company in the country was organized on the campus, and at the threat of an invasion of the colony by the British in 1777, this company marched to Williamsburg under the leadership of Captain John Blair Smith, one of the tutors of the college and a brother of the president. At a later stage of the war a similar march was made to Petersburg. A company was likewise organized on the campus in the War of 1812 and another in the War Between the States. Students and alumni also bore their full part in the Spanish-American War, as they have conspicuously done in the two great world wars and the Korean and Vietnam conflicts of the present century.

In 1779 Samuel Stanhope Smith was called to the faculty of the College of New Jersey (later becoming president as successor to John Witherspoon), and his brother, John Blair Smith, succeeded him in the management of Hampden-Sydney College. Following him came a line of distinguished presidents whose names appear in the list that follows this sketch. The college was not sectarian, as shown by the appointment of Jonathan P. Cushing, a prominent Episcopal layman, a graduate of Dartmouth College, as president in 1821. During the fourteen years of his administration the greater early enlargements of the physical plant were made. Cushing Hall, now named after the president, was erected in that period as the main college building. The building to the west of this, later known as the "Alamo," had been built in part in 1817 as the home of President Moses Hoge. This was now considerably enlarged. President Cushing's administration was the most significant one during the first half of the nineteenth century. During this period Union Theological Seminary was founded on ground adjoining the college to the south. The Seminary was the outgrowth of the Department of Divinity organized by President Hoge, grandfather of the Reverend Moses D. Hoge, the famous pulpit orator of the Second Presbyterian Church of Richmond, Virginia, from 1845 to 1899. The Seminary became a separate institution in 1823 and continued to operate at this site until its removal in 1898 to its present location at Richmond. Upon the removal of the Seminary, Major Richard M. Venable purchased and donated to the college the academic buildings and three residences.

The Seminary buildings, erected in the period between 1823 and 1880, occupied the ridge on the south side of the campus. These buildings included the central structure which, after some alterations and enlargements, has become Venable Hall of the present college, the two residences on either side of it, and the former library, now a part of Winston Hall.

The physical plant of the college continued to increase and expand during the nineteenth and twentieth centuries as the need arose. Today the 500-acre campus contains sixteen major buildings, including a residence hall completed in 1967, and a 63,000 square foot science center to be occupied in September, 1968.

In 1919 an amendment to the charter placed the college under the control of a Board of Trustees directly appointed by the Synod of Virginia. This relationship between the Presbyterian Church in the United States and the college continues to exist.

Student Life

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Student self-government has long been a cherished tradition and institution at Hampden-Sydney. The present constitution was adopted by the student body in 1963. Based largely upon past experience, it is designed to meet present and changing needs. Every matriculate of the college is a member of the organization.

Student Assembly. The Student Assembly transacts all student body business and, as far as such powers are delegated to it by the faculty, it has legislative jurisdiction over various phases of student campus life. The Assembly is composed of representatives from the social fraternities and non-fraternity men and the officers of the student body.

Judiciary Board. The judicial power of Student Government is vested in the Judiciary Board. This body is composed of elected representatives from the different classes. It tries cases arising from violations of Student Assembly regulations.

Student Council. The Student Council is explained below.

THE HONOR SYSTEM

The heart of the Honor System is individual responsibility. It assumes that every student is a gentleman and will conduct himself in an honorable and upright manner in all phases of student life; it further assumes that every student is concerned with the strict observance of these principles for his own sake, for the sake of his fellow students, and for the sake of the college.

Student Council (Honor Council). The Student Council (Honor Council), by authorization of the Board of Trustees and of the faculty, has jurisdiction over matters concerning breach of the Honor Code. It is composed of eleven men: three from the senior class, two from each of the other three classes, and the president and vice-president of the student body. The president is the presiding officer. The freshmen members do not have a vote. Eight out of nine votes constitute conviction. If a man is found guilty, the president of the Student Council reports the case to the Dean of Students, who informs the parents of the student in question. Student Council meetings are closed, and members of the Council are under oath never to reveal any of the proceedings designated as confidential at the time of the meeting. If a man is found guilty, the student body is informed; otherwise, the case is closed in order to protect the man who was initially charged but found innocent.

Pledge. Before a student may matriculate, he must sign a statement to the effect that he understands what is expected of him under the Honor System and that an infraction of the Honor Code at any time during the session is punishable by dishonorable dismissal from college. A professor may require a student to sign a formal pledge on any work.

Infractions of the Honor Code

1. Cheating (Giving or receiving aid without consent of the professor on tests, quizzes, assignments, or examinations, is cheating).
2. Plagiarism.
3. Lying.
4. Stealing.
5. Failure to report Honor Code offenses.

The student's obligation under the Honor System does not stop at the limits of the campus but applies in all places during the school year.

Reporting a Breach of the Honor Code. All suspected Honor Code violations should be reported to an officer of the Student Government or a member of the Honor Council. The president of the student body will notify the accused of the charges against him and give him the opportunity to obtain a counselor.

Penalty for a Breach of Honor. The penalty for a breach of honor is dismissal from college.

The Pledge. On my honor I have neither given nor received aid on this work, nor am I aware of any breach of the Honor Code that I shall not immediately report.

RELIGIOUS LIFE AT HAMPDEN-SYDNEY

It has been the aim of Hampden-Sydney since its inception to give to the Christian faith its rightful place in the lives of all who are associated with it: faculty, administration, coaching staff, and students. As a result, many ministers, missionaries, church-college teachers, and others engaged in church vocations are numbered among its graduates. Furthermore, the college has sent into the churches a great, though often unheralded, number of Christian laymen. A recent survey revealed that at least two-thirds of all alumni at present occupy specific positions of leadership in their churches.

The College Chaplain, who is also pastor of College Church (Presbyterian) on the campus, is responsible for the planning of the college religious services and for the coordination of denominational student activities. He serves as an adviser to the Campus Christian Association, and he is available at all times for personal counseling.

THE CAMPUS CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION

The CCA seeks to exert a constructive influence on both the spiritual and social life of all students. During orientation week an effort is made to help the new men feel that they are among friends.

Under the auspices of the CCA, fall religious emphasis services are held to confront the campus with the claims of Jesus Christ upon the minds and hearts of all students and faculty. In the spring the CCA provides a lecture series in which the relationship of Christianity to some phase of contemporary culture is explored by a Christian scholar of particular competence in his own field. In each case opportunities are provided for students to hold individual and small group conferences with the guest speakers.

In addition, the CCA provides many opportunities for students to engage in Christian witness, service, and social fellowship on and beyond the campus.

DENOMINATIONAL ACTIVITIES

While Hampden-Sydney College is an institution founded by and related to the Presbyterian Church in the United States, it encourages the work of all denominations. The nearness of Longwood College (for women) in Farmville provides an opportunity for coeducational religious activities. Student groups are organized for Baptists, Episcopalians, Lutherans, and Methodists through the churches of these denominations in Farmville; and College Church (Presbyterian) on the Hampden-Sydney campus and the Farmville Presbyterian Church jointly sponsor an active Westminster Fellowship.

CHAPEL

For almost two centuries Hampden-Sydney has had as a major objective the building of Christian character. A strong moral and spiritual atmosphere on the campus is most conducive to this end. This atmosphere is created by the students and the faculty centering their faith in God as He is revealed in Christ.

Attendance at chapels and at convocations is required.

DISCIPLINE

The discipline of the college is in the hands of the president, the deans, and the faculty, under regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees. Its object is to maintain regularity and order in the institution and to cultivate among the students the spirit of honor and manliness. The principle on which it proceeds is what has for many years been known in the universities and colleges of Virginia as "The Honor System," and has been found most effective in the development of good character and conduct. Fortunately, other means are seldom needed to secure the desired end, but, when necessary, they are resorted to in the form of admonition or suspension, as the gravity of the offense may demand.

ATHLETICS

Hampden-Sydney College offers the very latest athletic advantages, including a fully-equipped gymnasium and excellent facilities for football, baseball, basketball, wrestling, tennis, and track.

No one shall be a member or manager of any college athletic team who is not a regularly matriculated student.

The college is not liable for injuries received in any athletic practice or contest, or for hospital and doctor's bills, or for any other expenses resulting from such injuries.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

Recognizing the importance of physical exercise to the maintenance of student health, the Athletic Department at Hampden-Sydney College offers a comprehensive program of intramural activities which provides every student with opportunity to indulge in recreation and pleasant social relations. This program, conducted under the supervision of the faculty, includes all seasonal sports from the beginning of autumn through the end of spring.

ORGANIZATIONS

THE UNION-PHILANTHROPIC LITERARY SOCIETY

The present society is the result of the merger of the old Union and Philanthropic Societies. The Union Society was founded in 1789 and is second only to the Whig-Clisophic Society of Princeton University in point of age. It is made up of a group of students who are interested in the various forms of public speaking.

The Literary Society assembles for serious considerations, to instruct and be instructed, so that by a mutual clashing of wit, one's intellect may be sharpened for later life. The Literary Society furnishes the opportunity for debating, public speaking, and presenting papers. The Literary Society is invaluable as an active outlet on campus for intellectual creation. Freshmen especially are invited to avail themselves of the benefits of the Society.

THE JONGLEURS (THE HAMPDEN-SYDNEY PLAYERS)

Students interested in dramatics are invited to seek admission to the Jongleurs. Men must convince the faculty coach and a committee of student members of their aptitude. The club presents plays in conjunction with the Longwood College players and on occasion with casts composed entirely of Hampden-Sydney students.

THE GLEE CLUB

Students who are musically inclined have an opportunity for expression of their talent. Some sort of choral organization has always existed at the college and full opportunity is given every student to try out for the club. Several trips are taken during the fall and spring.

STUDENT PUBLICATIONS

The students publish an annual volume called The Kaleidoscope, of which seventy-two volumes will have been issued by June, 1968. This publication, intended primarily to foster college spirit, contains the rolls and photographs of the classes and various organizations.

The Hampden-Sydney Tiger, a student newspaper reflecting the various phases of college life, has been published since 1919.

The Hampden-Sydney Magazine is published twice a year by the students. This publication contains short stories and articles by members of the staff and student body. It is designed to encourage creative writing on the campus.

GREEK LETTER SOCIAL FRATERNITIES

There are nine national Greek letter fraternities at Hampden-Sydney. These are all members of the Interfraternity Council which formulates the rules for rushing and initiating new members. The following national fraternities are represented at Hampden-Sydney: Chi Phi, Sigma Chi, Kappa Sigma, Pi Kappa Alpha, Kappa Alpha, Theta Chi, Lambda Chi Alpha, Sigma Nu, Phi Gamma Delta.

PHI BETA KAPPA

The Eta of Virginia Chapter of the Phi Beta Kappa Society annually in March elects to membership a limited number of seniors who have exhibited scholarly attainment and distinction. Phi Beta Kappa members are chosen from among those students who have been in residence at Hampden-Sydney for a minimum of two years, have a grade point ratio of 2.5 on work taken at this college, and have passed all courses.

OMICRON DELTA KAPPA

In the spring of 1924, Lambda Circle of the National Honor Society of Omicron Delta Kappa was organized at Hampden-Sydney. The object of this society is to encourage and honor leadership, and to utilize this leadership for the highest good of the college. The membership is composed of the recognized leaders in the various college activities and certain members of the faculty chosen by the student members of the society.

SIGMA UPSILON, LITERARY FRATERNITY

The Sphinx Chapter meets approximately every three weeks. Some members of the faculty and chosen juniors and seniors meet to discuss literary men and movements, to read papers, and to review books.

CHI BETA PHI, SCIENTIFIC FRATERNITY

Chi Beta Phi, honorary scientific fraternity for undergraduates, is associated with the American Academy for the Advancement of Science. Gamma Chapter brings in scientists of renown from other institutions to give lectures and demonstrations, the public often being invited. Regular meetings are used for discussion of research by local members and for occasional lectures on advanced topics by the faculty.

ALPHA PSI OMEGA, DRAMATIC FRATERNITY

This fraternity honors outstanding leaders on the campus in the field of dramatics. Members are elected from students who have shown a decided aptitude in dramatics and from students who have done outstanding work in staging and production.

PI DELTA EPSILON, JOURNALISTIC FRATERNITY

Pi Delta Epsilon honors leadership in the field of journalism and associated activities. The Hampden-Sydney chapter was chartered in 1939. The fraternity seeks to coordinate the various publications by bringing the editors and business managers into one group.

ETA SIGMA PHI, CLASSICAL FRATERNITY

An honorary fraternity for upper classmen proficient in classical studies, Beta Theta Chapter of Eta Sigma Phi was established at Hampden-Sydney in 1942. It has promoted interest in ancient civilization through the purchase of Greek coins and records, and the presentation of various events of a classical nature.

PSI CHI, PSYCHOLOGY FRATERNITY

The Psychology Club became affiliated with Psi Chi in 1962. The purpose of Psi Chi is to improve the student's knowledge, interest, and understanding of psychology by sponsoring speakers, films, and special meetings. The membership requirements are: (1) an interest in psychology as a science; (2) completion of at least 8 hours of psychology with a grade of B or better; (3) an average of C or better in all other subjects; and (4) election by the local Psi Chi chapter.

CIRCLE K

In connection with the Richmond Kiwanis Club, a chapter of Circle K, a leadership society, has been formed at Hampden-Sydney.

REQUIREMENTS FOR THE BACHELOR'S DEGREE

For the degree a candidate must complete the following prescribed courses together with required courses in the major and elective courses to total 124 hours of credit and must earn 124 quality units.

The degree conferred upon candidates meeting these requirements is that of Bachelor of Arts, or, for students majoring in the natural sciences who request it, Bachelor of Science.

	Semester Hours
NATURAL SCIENCE .....	18
6 semester hours of Mathematics
8 semester hours of either Chemistry or Physics
4 semester hours of Biology
FOREIGN LANGUAGE .....	18
To be met by completing two semesters of work at the 300 level in a modern or ancient language or completing two semesters of work at the 200 level in one ancient and one modern language.
SOCIAL SCIENCE .....	9
No more than 3 hours may be submitted in History nor more than 6 hours in any other Social Science. (i.e. Psychology, Economics, Political Science)
WESTERN MAN .....	16
BIBLE AND RELIGION .....	6
ENGLISH .....	6
To be satisfied by courses at the 200 level.

Each student must choose a major in one department or an area of concentration in related departments. Specific requirements are found in headings of the departmental course offerings.

HOURS REQUIRED

For the B.A. or B.S. degree, a candidate must complete, together with the prescribed work, enough elective courses to aggregate 124 semester hours of credit. All requirements must be completed in ten semesters or less. The semester hour of credit is authorized for a class which meets fifty minutes per week for the semester, or for the laboratory which meets two and one-half hours per week for the semester.

A minimum residence of one academic year, the last year preceding graduation, is required.

If a student fails to graduate with his class, he may receive not more than eight semester hours of credit and eight quality points for work done elsewhere following termination of residence. A maximum of thirty semester hours of credit may be earned in summer schools.

QUALITATIVE REQUIREMENTS

The requirements for graduation shall include 124 quality units. Grades and quality units are given on the following basis:†

GRADES	MEANING	QUALITY UNITS
A	Excellent	Three per semester hour
B	Good	Two per semester hour
C	Average	One per semester hour
D	Below average	None
E	Failure—may continue*	None
F	Failure	None
WF	Withdrawn, failing	None

†Beginning with the class of 1972, a four-point grading system will be in effect. Academic standards will be set by the faculty during the 1968-69 session.

*This grade is given only for the first semester of continuing (0-6) courses. If a student receives the grade of E, he may continue in the immediately following semester of that course. If the grade for the second semester is satisfactory, the student will not be required to repeat the work of the first semester, and the graduation requirement of the whole course will be fulfilled. No hours of credit will be given for the semester which bears the grade of E.

HONORS COURSES

Honors courses for juniors and seniors are available in various departments. Approval by the professor who will direct the course and by the academic dean will be required. Prerequisite for such a course is two years of study in that department. A tentative plan for the course must be filed with the academic dean by the fourth week of the first semester. The course will normally require two semesters of work and will carry up to three hours of credit per semester. The credit will apply toward the degree requirements.

GRADUATION WITH HONORS

Graduation with honors shall be according to the following requirements:

Summa cum laude	a grade point ratio of 2.7
Magna cum laude	a grade point ratio of 2.5
Cum laude	a grade point ratio of 2.3

Note: The maximum grade point ratio is 3.0.

PREPARATION FOR PROFESSIONAL SCHOOLS

Special programs are suggested for students who may wish ultimately to seek admission to one of the professions or to a professional school.

MEDICINE AND DENTISTRY

According to the publication Medical School Admission Requirements (18th edition), published by the Association of American Medical Colleges, "Medicine needs individuals with a diversity of educational background and a wide variety of talents and interests. . . . Specific premedical course requirements . . . vary among the medical schools, but all recognize the desirability of a broad education—a good foundation in the natural sciences (mathematics, chemistry, biology, and physics), highly developed communication skills, and a rich background in the social sciences and humanities.”

Eight semester-hours of each of the following basic science courses are required for admission to virtually every medical school: general chemistry, organic chemistry, general biology, and general physics. Additional requirements are specified for some schools. Dental school requirements are similar. While additional science courses are not required at many schools, the premedical or predental student is strongly advised to take a number of the following courses: Biology 211, 222, 311, 331-332, Chemistry 313, and Mathematics 201-202.

Choice of college major is a critical matter for premedical students. The majority, quite naturally, are interested primarily in science and should elect a full major in one of the sciences, such as biology or chemistry. The interscience major is generally not recommended because it provides a program more diffuse than that taken by other medical applicants with whom the student competes and provides fewer alternatives for the student who may fail to attain admission to professional school.

Occasionally a premedical student who has great interest in a non-science field may elect to major in that field. This is permissible, but he should understand that the quality of his science work must be unusually good to compensate for the greater quantity of science courses taken by others. In the words of Medical School Admission Requirements, 18th edition, “the student who majors in a non-scientific field and elects the minimum number of required science courses must excel in them to insure the adequacy of his preparation and a favorable consideration of his application.”

In order to prepare himself for the Medical College Admissions Test (MCAT) or the Dental Aptitude Test (DAT), generally taken at the end of the junior year, the student must complete the required basic science courses in his first three years. In order to develop the intellectual skills needed for good performance on the MCAT or DAT and to prove his motivation and ability for advanced study in medical/dental science, the student should elect a demanding curriculum in every semester. This should typically include at least two courses per semester in science and/or mathematics, and more for the well qualified, science-oriented student.

A faculty committee advises students concerning programs and applications, and prepares evaluations and recommendations.

LAW

The Association of American Law Schools suggests no particular subjects for pre-legal training but recommends a program aimed at the following objectives:

1. Comprehension and expression in words.
2. Critical understanding of the human institutions and values with which the law deals.
3. Creative power in thinking.

Since many of the goals of legal education are also goals of liberal education, it is not surprising that the most appropriate pre-legal course lies in the liberal-arts program. There is no conflict of objectives; indeed, the mental accomplishments outlined above are in the tradition of liberal education. The task of the pre-law student is to achieve them, and Hampden-Sydney College provides this opportunity.

In consultation with his faculty adviser, the student should select specific subjects in the light of his educational background and interests. In choosing his major he should consider political science, economics, and history. Perhaps an area of concentration in two of these fields would prove desirable. Whatever the major, some advanced work should be done in one of these fields.

BUSINESS

A student may enter private business or government immediately after graduation from college or after specialized study at the graduate level. A training program sponsored by the employer is normal. Public accounting calls for the baccalaureate degree and further training leading to a professional certificate. Evening classes, taken while holding a business position, facilitate this, and full-time graduate programs are available in some universities.

One of the purposes of the economics major is to furnish a suitable background for students planning to enter business, government administration, or accounting. Courses in political science, statistics, and mathematics of finance are recommended.

SECONDARY SCHOOL TEACHING

The liberal arts education provides an excellent preparation for the individual who wishes not merely to qualify for, but to excel in, teaching at the secondary level. A strong major in the field to be taught, with supporting courses in related areas, is the most important preparation.

The interscience major provides a broad science background, including about six semesters' concentration in one field, and constitutes a satisfactory preparation for teaching in the field of concentration. However, the student who aspires to be a master teacher should elect a full major in preparation for graduate study, as recommended by the National Science Teachers' Association and other professional groups.

While Hampden-Sydney College does not offer any professional education courses, several courses taught by the various departments meet the professional education requirements of the State. Other courses needed to complete the requirements may be taken at Longwood College through a cooperative arrangement.

COOPERATIVE PROGRAM

The variety of courses available to Hampden-Sydney students has been increased by a cooperative arrangement with Longwood College. Under the terms of the arrangement, full-time students at either institution may enroll for courses at the other institution without added expense.

Students desiring to take advantage of this program must secure approval from the academic dean. Approval will be granted only if an equivalent course is not offered.

Hampden-Sydney students would find these academic areas of particular interest:

Education (for certification requirements)

Fine Arts (creative)

Modern Language (conversational)

ACADEMIC COMPUTATION FACILITY

This facility is centered on the IBM 1130 Computer System with 4098 words of core memory, a 500,000 word magnetic disk auxiliary memory, 1132 printer, 1442 card read punch and 029 card punches. The facility is open to students and faculty, and familiarity with the equipment is expected of all students.

FACULTY ADVISERS

Advisers are assigned to incoming freshmen during the summer preceding matriculation. The selection of adviser is made carefully to reflect educational goals of the student as well as his vocational and avocational interests. Registration and academic progress are among the important matters of concern to the advisers. Each student is urged to consult with his adviser periodically.

In the spring of the sophomore year, each student must declare his major, or area of concentration, and a professor in this field will be assigned as permanent adviser. During the period of spring registration the new adviser will counsel with the student and plan an effective program for the junior and senior years. The adviser may give guidance to the student in the choice of graduate or vocational opportunities.

EGGLESTON LIBRARY

The College Library is housed in a handsome, efficient, modern building carefully designed to meet the needs of undergraduates. It is named for former President Joseph DuPuy Eggleston. The building, constructed in 1961, provides seating space for more than 200 readers, including 92 individual study tables, 11 typing cubicles, 2 seminar rooms, a listening room, and an outdoor reading terrace.

The book collection numbers approximately 67,000 volumes and is growing at the rate of some 5,500 volumes a year. 400 periodicals are received regularly including certain microcard and microfilm editions. The library is a depository for selected government publications. Most of the books have been selected by the teaching faculty and are readily accessible on open shelves. Use of the library is covered by the Honor Code.

The attractively and comfortably furnished rare book room, a memorial to Alfred Alexander Jones, '42, contains the more valuable holdings of the library along with books written by and about the graduates of the college.

ADMINISTRATIVE REGULATIONS

REGISTRATION AND CHANGE OF SCHEDULE

New students report to the campus on Sunday, September 15, 1968, and will register for classes on Monday, September 16. Returning students matriculate on Tuesday, September 17.

During the month of April each student planning to return for the next session must carry out spring registration and pay the Advance Tuition Deposit. In spring registration the student will list for his adviser the courses desired for the fall semester, and this list will become his fall registration. The class schedule is devised from spring registrations, and the student returning in September finds his personal schedule complete even to the assignment of laboratories. Schedule preparation conducted in this way is fair to all, it reduces to a minimum the number of conflicts, and it eliminates for most students the usual tedium of fall registration.

When matriculation is complete and all students have received their schedules, changes of schedule are not encouraged. Beginning with the day of registration and extending through the week which follows, a change of schedule will require payment of a $5 fee. In the second week, a fee of $10 will be charged for each change of schedule. No changes are permitted after the second week.

Although new students have the benefits of comprehensive guidance during registration, some adjustments in schedule may be necessary. Accordingly, new students may make schedule changes free of charge during the first week but must pay $5 for each change in the second week. No changes are permitted after the second week.

A student may drop courses carried above the minimum course requirement any time during the first eight weeks of the semester.

For the beginning of the second semester similar registration policies, including fees, are in effect.

COURSE REGULATIONS

1. Every student must carry a minimum course load of fifteen* hours each semester.
2. No student may take more than sixteen hours in any semester

---

* A minimum course load of fourteen hours is required for students enrolled in Western Man 101-102.

unless he has passed at least fifteen* hours in the previous semester.

3. No student may take more than 19 hours in any semester.
4. A student hopelessly deficient in one subject, with the permission of the instructor, adviser, and the academic dean, may drop that course. The grade for the semester will be recorded as W.F.

NOTE: These course regulations may be modified by action of the executive committee of the faculty.

EXAMINATIONS

In all classes examinations are held at the end of each semester. A charge of $5.00 payable to the business manager is made for special examinations.

RE-EXAMINATIONS

Re-examinations may be granted seniors if the professor concerned and the academic dean approve. The re-examination will be in lieu of the first (regularly scheduled) examination only, and will not

---

* A minimum course load of fourteen hours is required for students enrolled in Western Man 101-102.

substitute for all previous grades of the course. Passing the re-examination will entitle the student to no better than a D in the course.

DEAN'S LISTS

The First Dean's List is based on a grade point ratio of 2.5 with no grade below B. The Second Dean's List is based on a grade point ratio of 2.2 with no grade below C. No student, except a senior, who is carrying less than fifteen hours is eligible for either dean's list.

SEMESTER REPORTS

At the end of each semester a grade report is sent to the parent or guardian of each student. Twice during the first semester and once during the second semester, reports of unsatisfactory progress in specific courses are similarly sent.

CLASS STANDING

The requirements for class standing shall be as follows: sophomore—two semesters of work (or the equivalent), 18 semester hours, and 12 quality units; junior—four semesters of work (or the equivalent), 50 semester hours, and 44 quality units; senior—six semesters of work (or the equivalent), 86 semester hours, and 80 quality units.

CLASS ATTENDANCE

Since a college education is initiated and given direction by the work of the classroom, class attendance is essential. Students who find it necessary to leave the campus for medical reasons are expected to consult with the college physician. Absences for medical reasons require a written statement from the attending physician. Students who find it necessary to miss classes for a number of days should inform the dean of students.

TRANSFER CREDITS

A student transferring college credit from another institution will receive not more than one quality unit for each semester hour of credit accepted.

Quality units are to be allowed only for courses which would apply to a degree at Hampden-Sydney and which are not being presented for credit toward a degree at any other institution. No credit will be given for correspondence courses.

SCHOLARSHIP REQUIREMENTS

To maintain acceptable scholastic standing, the student should earn a C average. The Executive Committee of the Faculty will review students' records at the end of each semester and place on warning any student whose record falls significantly below the minimum standard. A student on academic warning will be subject to suspension for one or more terms at the end of the next semester if his average is still below C. (In the case of an extremely poor record, suspension need not be preceded by formal warning.) Continuance on warning for another semester, instead of suspension, may be imposed if the Executive Committee believes that improvement has been shown and that the student is making an honest effort to reach acceptable scholastic standing. A student not on warning may be suspended for one or more semesters if his work for a semester is quite inferior.

CREDIT FOR SUMMER WORK

A student desiring to secure credit for work done in the summer school of another college should first have the approval of the professor in whose department the credit is sought; otherwise he may find that the course taken is not the equivalent of the course given at Hampden-Sydney College and that he is not entitled to credit.

The college will grant no credit unless the grade for the course taken in summer school is higher than the lowest passing grade.

No more than 30 of the 124 hours required for graduation may be earned in summer school.

WITHDRAWAL FROM COLLEGE

Any student who withdraws from college during the school year should sign a resignation card at the office of either dean. A student resigning on or after January 1 of the first semester or May 1 of the second semester will be suspended and will receive a grade of W.F. in all courses.

EXCLUSION FROM COLLEGE

The college authorities reserve the right to exclude at any time a student whose conduct or academic standing they regard as unacceptable; in such a case fees will not be refunded or remitted, in whole or in part.

HEALTH REGULATIONS

1. All medical excuses require a written statement from the attending physician. Students living in their own homes enjoy the benefits of the Student Health Service except infirmary room service.

2. A student ill enough to be in bed must be in the infirmary, where he can have medical attention and care of the nurses. No excuses are given unless this rule is observed.

3. Students at home on account of illness are required to notify the college physician and to report to the dean of students for an excuse upon their return to college.

4. Students who have had or have been exposed to any infectious disease must report to the college physician before attending classes or mingling with other students.

5. A student who desires an appointment with an outside physician or dentist should consult the college physician before making the appointment. This is a requirement when the appointment involves an absence from class. He is to bring a statement from the attending physician to the dean of students before returning to class.

6. No student may leave the campus because of illness unless he has a medical excuse from the college physician.

7. No student is allowed to have in his room ultra-violet lamps, infra-red lamps, or other forms of treatment without the written permission of the college physician. When students are taking special treatments, this fact should be reported to the college physician.

Admissions

A young man applying for admission to Hampden-Sydney College as a freshman should plan to enroll in September. Rarely is an entering student admitted at the beginning of the second semester, for the distinctive curriculum makes no provision for mid-year admissions.

Details of the Early Decision Plan and the Regular Plan are given in the next pages. All inquiries should be addressed to the director of admissions.

Hampden-Sydney reserves the right to send the college grades of its students to the high school of origin for purposes of counseling and evaluation and to various scholarship and lending agencies requesting follow-up information.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

- I. An applicant must be graduated from an accredited secondary school or its equivalent in order for his acceptance to be confirmed by the college.
- II. Preparation in secondary school should include the following:
  - A. Four units in English.
  - B. At least two units of algebra.
  - C. One unit of plane geometry. Solid geometry, trigonometry, and other advanced mathematics courses are recommended.
  - D. One unit of chemistry, biology, or physics.
  - E. At least two units of one foreign language.
  - F. One unit of history or civics.
  - G. Additional courses in mathematics, science, history, government, and languages.
- III. Applicants for admission to Hampden-Sydney are required to take the Scholastic Aptitude Test and three (3) Achievement Tests of the College Entrance Examination Board. The scores must be reported to Hampden-Sydney by the College Board. The SAT should be taken no later than January of the senior year, preferably in December. Candidates for early decision must take the SAT before the senior year.

Achievement Tests should be taken in the senior year in December or January, except for early decision candidates, who must take them before the senior year. Achievement Tests required are the following:

English Composition

Mathematics, Level I (Level II may be taken in lieu of Level I, if a student has high mathematical ability and is taking or has completed an advanced mathematics course. A conference with a counselor or mathematics teacher is recommended before taking Level II.)

A third test selected by the candidate. If this test is in a subject completed before the senior year, the test does not have to be repeated in the senior year.

Complete information regarding these tests may be obtained by writing to the College Entrance Examination Board, Post Office Box 592, Princeton, New Jersey 08540.

- IV. Applicants who are accepted and indicate they plan to enroll will be sent a health certificate to be completed by the family physician. This form must be received and approved by the college physician before a student may matriculate.

REGULAR PLAN

The application form should be completed by the student and returned to the director of admissions, preferably in the fall of the senior year and no later than March 1. The blank transcript and personal appraisal form provided by the college should be given to the proper secondary school officer, who should return the completed form to the college.

In February a card will be sent to an applicant if all evidence in support of the application has not been received. Anything lacking must be received by March 1, or full consideration of the application cannot be guaranteed.

Most decisions by the admissions committee are mailed between mid-March and mid-April.

The college subscribes to the Candidates Reply Date, which allows an accepted student until early May to notify Hampden-Sydney of his decision. However, the college appreciates being notified as soon as the applicant has made his decision. The letter of confirmation accepting the offer of admission must be accompanied by a non-refundable, $100.00 advance deposit applicable to the first semester bill.

EARLY DECISION PLAN

Hampden-Sydney is a member of the Uniform Early Decision Group. The object of this plan is to reduce the necessity for filing multiple applications and to reduce the anxiety attending later acceptance. The plan is for applicants who, after consulting with school authorities and parents, judge that Hampden-Sydney College is their single choice and that they satisfy the following eligibility requirements:

1. Top quarter rank in class at the end of the junior year
2. Verbal and mathematical scores on the SAT that total at least 1100

Under this plan, the student:

- A. Agrees to apply only to Hampden-Sydney until he is notified of the college's decision.
- B. Agrees to have his completed application, including transcript and SAT and Achievement Test* scores, in by November 1. Financial assistance applicants must have the Parents' Confidential Statement filed with the College Scholarship Service by November 1, preferably much earlier.

* If a candidate meets all requirements other than the completion of the Achievement Test requirement, he may still apply under the Early Decision Plan. However, he must take the Achievement Tests no later than January of his senior year.

- C. Agrees to notify Hampden-Sydney of his decision regarding matriculation by the date stated in his acceptance letter. A non-refundable deposit of $100.00, applicable to the first-semester bill, must accompany a confirmation.
- D. Agrees not to apply elsewhere after confirming his intention to enroll at Hampden-Sydney.

Under this plan, Hampden-Sydney:

- A. Agrees to mail a decision on admission (and financial assistance, if requested) by November 15. The decision in each case will be either acceptance or deferment; no rejections will be made under this plan.
- B. Agrees not to require the accepted candidate who has indicated his intention to matriculate and who has made his deposit to take further admission tests.*
- C. Guarantees the deferred applicant that his application will receive thorough, unbiased consideration under the Regular Plan. The deferred candidate will be free to apply to other colleges.

* If a candidate meets all requirements other than the completion of the Achievement Test requirement, he may still apply under the Early Decision Plan. However, he must take the Achievement Tests no later than January of his senior year.

ADVANCED PLACEMENT AND CREDIT

Hampden-Sydney subscribes to the purposes of the Advanced Placement Program of the College Entrance Examination Board. Entering students who have completed advanced work in secondary school and who present satisfactory grades on the Advanced Placement Examinations or other appropriate evidence may receive credit toward graduation and may be placed in courses above the level of the freshman year. In all cases decisions regarding advanced placement and credit shall be made by the department concerned.

FACTORS INFLUENCING A DECISION

The secondary school academic record is the most important item. Significant also are the recommendation of school officials and the overall pattern represented by test scores, personal qualifications, and contributions to church, school, and community activities.

CAMPUS VISITS

Interviews are not required, but an applicant is encouraged to visit the campus and the admissions office. A written request for an appointment with the director of admissions should be made two weeks in advance of an anticipated visit. From September through May the admissions office is open for appointments on weekdays from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., except during traditional school holidays, and on Saturday mornings from 9:00 a.m. until noon. In June, July, and August the office is open only on weekdays, not on week ends.

SUMMER SCHOOL

Hampden-Sydney has no summer school. An entering student who plans to attend summer school to acquire college credit before matriculating at Hampden-Sydney should obtain clearance from the registrar to ensure the transference of the credits.

READMISSION

A former Hampden-Sydney student desiring to return to Hampden-Sydney should write to the director of admissions for an application form for readmission. Students planning to re-enter in the second semester should apply no later than January 1; those planning to enter in September should apply by March 1.

TRANSFER STUDENTS

Hampden-Sydney accepts each year a limited number of transfer students. September is the normal time for entrance, although occasionally a student is accepted for admission for the second semester.

Transferring from one college to another almost always involves loss of credits. Tentative credits may be accorded a student transferring course work similar to that offered by Hampden-Sydney from an accredited institution. These credits will become final upon the satisfactory completion of his first semester of work at Hampden-Sydney. If the student shows that he cannot do the work undertaken, the credit will be withdrawn or adjusted. No credit will be allowed for work taken elsewhere if the student earns credit for the equivalent of this work at Hampden-Sydney.

A student seeking admission from another institution must have earned grades above the minimum passing mark in the courses which he presents for transfer (see section on Transfer Credits.) It is the policy of the college to deny admission to a transfer student unless the student is eligible to return to the college from which he wishes to transfer.

All inquiries should be addressed to the director of admissions.

Expenses and Financial Assistance

Expenses and Financial Assistance

EXPENSES

These are made up of certain fixed fees payable to the college and several variable expenses.

FIXED FEES

(1968-1969)

Comprehensive Fee .....	$1,500.00
Room rent in Cushing, Graham, and Venable Halls .....	200.00
Room rent in Whitehouse Hall .....	300.00
Board .....	450.00
Total .....	$2,150.00-$2,250.00

Special Fees:

Late Enrollment .....	$ 5.00
Re-examination .....	5.00
Graduation Fee .....	15.00

VARIABLE EXPENSES

Each student pays for his own:

Books (approximate cost) .....	$75.00
Laundry (approximate cost) .....	55.00
Personal Expenses (determined by student and his parents)
Laboratory Breakage Deposit (for certain courses)

Books may be purchased at the College Shop. Laundry may be arranged through student agents of local laundries. Personal expenses involving clothes, travel, amusements, dues to organizations, and incidentals are subject to personal habits and means.

The breakage deposit is returnable except for the actual cost of materials destroyed or consumed.

EXPLANATION OF FEES

Student fees cover only about half of the cost of the student's education; the remaining half is provided by income from endowment and the gifts of alumni, friends, and the Synod of Virginia.

The Comprehensive Fee covers tuition, materials required in laboratory courses, medical care in the college infirmary, accident and hospitalization insurance, admission to athletic events held on the college campus, the cost to students of student publications, Campus Christian Association privileges, and other activities; but does not cover breakage of college property or the purchase of expendable materials for laboratory courses.

Room rent in the dormitory covers cost of occupancy and use of utilities. Freshmen live in Venable and Graham Halls; upper classmen in Cushing, Graham, and Whitehouse Halls.

The rooms are furnished with dressers, beds, mattresses, springs, desks, and chairs. Bed coverings, pillows, towels, curtains, etc., are furnished by the student according to his taste.

Each student is responsible to the College for the condition of his room and is expected to report any damage of college property to the business office. He must pay the cost of repairs.

The dining hall located in the student activities building, Winston Hall, provides for the board of students. Slater Food Service Management is in charge of all operations. In addition to the main dining hall, the William Henry Harrison Room is available for banquets and special occasions, while the Patrick Henry Room specializes in à la carte service for students, faculty, and their guests.

All resident students are admitted with the understanding that they must board at the dining hall.

In the senior year there is payable on February 1st a graduation fee of $15.00, which covers cost of diploma and rental of cap and gown for the Commencement season.

PAYMENT OF FEES*

One-half of the fixed fees is payable on or before registration in September; the balance is due on or before second-semester registration.

Checks should be made payable to Hampden-Sydney College and mailed to the Business Office.

*New students pay an advance deposit of $100.00 upon acceptance of admission. This deposit is not refundable. Old students pay an advance deposit of $50.00 on or before March 15, and may obtain refund in the event of withdrawal not later than June 15. The advance payment is credited toward regular fees upon entrance in September.

MONTHLY PAYMENTS

For those parents wishing to make payments monthly rather than in a lump sum, the college offers the following plans:

Education Funds, Inc.

State Planters Bank College Tuition Plan, Inc.

Tuition Plan, Inc.

RETURN OF FEES

There is no refund of fees, except when the college physician recommends the withdrawal of a student before the middle of a semester for reasons of health. When this occurs the student will be refunded $250.00.

There is no refund of room rent.

A refund of unused board is allowed if withdrawal occurs prior to two weeks before the end of a semester.

SCHOLARSHIP PAYMENTS

One half of the value of a scholarship or grant-in-aid awarded to a student will be credited against the first semester's charges; the balance will be credited to the student's account for the second semester.

LIFE INSURANCE

The University Life Insurance Plan is available to Hampden-Sydney students on an optional basis. It provides coverage of $10,000.00 of annually renewable, convertible term insurance with the Fidelity Bankers Life Insurance Corporation. The annual premium is $20 per year through age twenty-four and $25 per year for ages twenty-five through twenty-nine.

FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE

Hampden-Sydney College participates in the College Scholarship Service Assembly (CSS) of the College Entrance Examination Board and is also a member of the Southern College Scholarship Group. Participants in the CSS subscribe to the principle that the amount of financial aid granted a student should be based upon financial need. The CSS assists colleges and universities and other agencies in determining the student's need for financial assistance. Parents of applicants seeking financial assistance are required to submit the Parents' Confidential Statement (PCS) to the CSS by February 21, preferably much earlier. Hampden-Sydney College should be designated as a recipient.

Financial assistance consists of scholarships, loans, and campus employment, which may be offered to students singly or in various combinations.

In selecting students to receive financial assistance, the student aid committee places primary emphasis upon academic achievement, character, future promise, and need.

SCHOLARSHIPS

THE GEORGE F. BAKER SCHOLARSHIP

Hampden-Sydney College is one of a small number of strong liberal arts colleges to be awarded grants for its scholarship program by the George F. Baker Trust. From three to five four-year scholarships will be awarded to incoming freshmen who are among the most promising applicants for admission based on the qualities of leadership, character, and intellectual ability and achievement.

Those selected to compete for the scholarships will be invited to the campus for interviews with a selection committee composed of leading business men. Baker Scholars will be chosen without regard to financial need. However, the actual stipend awarded will range from $250.00 to a full scholarship per year and will meet the financial need of each scholar as nearly as possible.

THE VENABLE SCHOLARSHIP

The Venable Scholarship, one of the highest honors bestowed upon an entering freshman, is awarded to a young man representing the highest type of manhood. This is a four-year scholarship ranging in value from $100.00 to a full scholarship per year, the actual amount being dependent upon the financial need of the winner.

HONOR SCHOLARSHIPS

Approximately four Honor Scholarships are awarded to incoming freshmen in recognition of superior academic and extracurricular achievements. This four-year scholarship has a value of up to full tuition per year, the actual amount reflecting the financial need of the recipient. If no need is evident, the award is honorary.

LEADERSHIP AWARDS

The two Leadership Awards, including the Moomaw Award, are awarded to entering freshmen who have demonstrated noteworthy leadership achievement. Each is a four-year scholarship with a value of up to full tuition per year, the exact amount depending upon the financial need of the winner. If there is no financial need, the award is honorary.

GRANTS-IN-AID

This is the largest source of revenue for financial aid. The funds consist of money derived from endowment, gifts to the college, and direct grants from the college.

GUARANTEED LOANS

The college recommends loans for qualified students through the United Student Aid Funds, a private, non-profit corporation which endorses low-cost loans made by a student's home-town bank. Also, most states have agencies guaranteeing loans to students for educational expenses.

In each plan a student may borrow up to $1,000.00 per academic year from a participating bank, usually a bank in the student's home town. Repayment begins after one leaves college. Interest is no more than 6%, and interest starts when the loan is made. For a student who qualifies under Federal law, the government will pay the interest until repayments begin and 3% interest while the student is repaying the loan. One qualifies for this interest subsidy normally if one's adjusted family income is below $15,000.00 per year. Further details can be obtained from banks or by writing to the admissions office.

BOOKER-STEBBINS LOAN FUND

A student may borrow up to one-half of his college expenses for the year at 3% simple interest. This is primarily a source for an emergency or short-term loan.

FEDERAL PROGRAM

In cooperation with the federal government the college offers Educational Opportunity Grants. The college and the government combine their financial resources and award grants to worthy students who lack sufficient financial resources to enable them to attend college. Also available are loans of up to $1000.00 per year under the National Defense Student Loan Program and a limited number of jobs under the College Work-Study Program.

APPLICATION PROCEDURE

New Students

Every applicant for financial aid should first secure an application form for admission to Hampden-Sydney, on which he may note his intention to apply for financial assistance. An applicant's parents must then submit a Parents' Confidential Statement (PCS) to the CSS by February 21, preferably much earlier. The PCS may be obtained from a school counselor or from the College Scholarship Service, Box 176, Princeton, New Jersey 08540.

Financial aid decisions are made by the admissions and student aid committee. Notices are mailed with the admissions decision whenever possible. Applying for aid in no way affects the admissions decision.

Students Enrolled at Hampden-Sydney

Hampden-Sydney students applying for aid for the first time or for a renewal or increase of present aid should obtain from the director of admissions a Parents' Confidential Statement, which should be completed by the parents and returned to the admissions office by March 1. Award notices are mailed to students in June, after the completion of the second semester.

Renewal

Awards are made for one session only. A PCS must be filed with the admissions office each year, and the committee upon review of the PCS may make adjustments in the award reflecting changes in the financial situation.

A student normally is expected to maintain a 1.0 (maximum 3.0) academic average each academic year to retain aid for the next year. Baker, Venable, Honor, and Leadership award winners are expected to maintain a 1.5 average to retain their scholarships.

The composition of the total award (how much is grant, loan, job) each year will reflect the quality of the student's academic work. Generally, those with the highest averages will receive more grant and less loan than those with lower averages.

Awards may be cancelled at any time when the deportment or the work of the recipient is deemed unsatisfactory.

General Information

General Information

HAMPDEN-SYDNEY

Hampden-Sydney is an undergraduate college committed to a particular form of liberal-arts education. The faculty endeavors to make as the end of this education an effective commencement into business, the professions, or post-graduate schools. The college is not a miniature university, and it cannot be all things to all who would enter; but if this is a limitation, it is also an asset, for the full resources of the college can be dedicated to the one kind of education.

The development of Christian character is important at Hampden-Sydney. The college invites to its faculty Christian men who are competent scholars and teachers. By their example, by their persuasions, as well as by their scholarship, the faculty members influence the lives of Hampden-Sydney students.

STUDENT HEALTH SERVICE

The objectives of the college health service are in accord with those laid down by the American College Health Association.

An applicant for admission to the college is required to submit a medical certificate from his home physician stating that he is in good health and not handicapped by physical defects that disqualify him for college work. A review of this certificate is made by the college physician during the week of matriculation for a new student. Examination of a new student by the college physician is limited to a brief evaluation of his cardiac status. Special examinations are given as needed. Continuing efforts are made by the college physician to keep in touch with students who need his attention.

The parents or guardian of the student are requested to sign permission for the college physician to authorize emergency treatment. Any unusual circumstances in the treatment of a student will be reported to his parents or guardian.

INFIRMARY

Nurses are on duty at the infirmary from 8:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. daily Monday through Friday. One nurse is in residence or a student assistant is on duty for emergencies only from 9:00 p.m. to 8:00 a.m.

daily Monday through Friday and on weekends. The college physician is in attendance at the infirmary daily at 1:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday and immediately after church on Sunday. He is available to stop at the infirmary when necessary on his regular trips to and from his home early in the morning or late in the afternoon.

The majority of cases treated in the infirmary involve minor injuries, colds, and digestive upsets. Treatment equipment in the infirmary is limited to that needed for hypodermic and intramuscular injections, ear irrigations, simple dressings, removal of skin sutures and infra-red heat therapy. Medications supplied in the infirmary are limited to vitamins, symptomatic medications, penicillin and antibiotics. A charge based on wholesale cost will be made to the student receiving more expensive items from the infirmary such as antibiotics and he is billed for same by the business office. The infirmary beds are used primarily for acutely ill students who respond rapidly to rest and conservative treatment. If the student's condition worsens or response to treatment is slow arrangements are made for treatment and laboratory studies in the local hospital or at home.

The college provides the student with group accident and sickness insurance. Information regarding details of this coverage are included in the routine mailing from the college to prospective students.

STUDENT PERSONNEL AND COUNSELING SERVICE

For many years, the college has maintained a student counseling service. The psychological services of the college are concerned with the total person: his natural abilities, aptitudes, interests, and talents. An attempt is made to help the student relate the insights gained in counseling to his choice of a vocation for life. Proper course sequences consonant with the student's aim are identified.

In co-operation with some presbyteries, the services of the guidance center are also available to Presbyterian young people, whether they wish to attend college or not.

Students who enter Hampden-Sydney College are given a series of tests which will help in counseling and in research.

Some students have personal problems which may keep them from getting the most out of college life and which may jeopardize their mental health. These men are encouraged to seek help from the counseling service which is staffed by competent psychologists. Office of the service are in the Presbyterian Guidance Center.

LOCATION

Hampden-Sydney College is located seven miles south of Farmville, Virginia, just off U. S. Route 15.

Farmville is on the main line of the Norfolk and Western Railroad and on the Richmond-Knoxville line of the Atlantic Greyhound Corporation.

The post office is Hampden-Sydney, Virginia 23943. The telegraph, express, and freight offices are at Farmville. The college has long-distance telephone connections through Lynchburg.

Trunks, if forwarded by express, should be sent prepaid, marked clearly with sender's name in care of Hampden-Sydney College, Farmville, Virginia 23901.

ROOM AND BOARD

Students must room in the college dormitories in assigned rooms or in houses approved by the dean of students. Each student is responsible for any damage to his room or college property therein.

Dormitory rooms are furnished with dressers, single beds, mattresses, springs, desks, and chairs. Bed coverings, pillows, towels, and the like are furnished by the student.

Cooking in dormitory rooms is not permitted.

No unauthorized electrical equipment will be permitted, and no changes in the wiring shall be made except by the college electrician.

The misuse of a radio, television, record player, or tape recorder will necessitate confiscation until the end of the term.

Married students' apartments must also be approved by the dean of students. This should be done before any financial arrangements are made with the landlord.

The college maintains a dining hall in which the most modern equipment, a balanced diet, and excellent service are maintained under the direction of an expert dietitian. All resident students must board at the dining hall. The dormitories and the dining hall are closed during holidays and immediately after Commencement.

AUTOMOBILES, FIREARMS, DOGS

No freshman may keep a car. Any upperclassman is eligible to have a car at Hampden-Sydney provided a permit is obtained from the office of the dean of students and the car is operated in accordance with existing college rules and regulations. No student receiving financial aid from the college may have a car on campus without the written permission of the student aid committee.

No student is permitted to operate a motorcycle, motorbike, or scooter in the village of Hampden-Sydney.

No student is allowed to have a private airplane available for his use while he is at the college.

No student, while he is at the college, may take flying lessons, except with the written consent of his parent and with the approval of the dean of students.

No student is permitted to possess firearms at Hampden-Sydney.*

No student is allowed to bring or to keep a dog at Hampden-Sydney.

The possession or the setting off of fireworks at Hampden-Sydney is forbidden.

Students are expected to abide by the laws of the Commonwealth with respect to alcohol. The possession of alcoholic beverages on the campus or in any building connected with the college is contrary to college policy. Students blatantly disregarding this policy will be subject to discipline.

---

*Students who desire to hunt must arrange with the dean of students for the privilege of having firearms during the hunting season. But no firearms may be kept in the dormitories, fraternities, or in other living quarters of students. Abuse of this regulation may lead to suspension without warning.

MILITARY PROGRAMS

Although Hampden-Sydney College does not have an ROTC program, several commissioning programs are available. The U. S. Marine Corps Platoon Leaders Class or Platoon Leaders Class (Aviation) affords the qualified student an opportunity to become a Marine Officer after earning a baccalaureate degree. PLC's attend two six-week summer training sessions and must maintain a minimum C average while in college.

The Marine Corps Officer representatives visit Hampden-Sydney College during the academic year to provide additional information.

EMERGENCIES

In an emergency, parents may seek assistance from any of the officers of the administration.

FORM OF BEQUEST

I give and bequeath to the President and Trustees of Hampden-Sydney College the sum of ..... for the use of said institution.

LEGAL TITLE

"THE PRESIDENT AND TRUSTEES OF HAMPDEN-SYDNEY COLLEGE"
Communications on business should be addressed to the President.

Course Offerings

Course Offerings

THE DIVISIONS

The academic departments and courses of instruction are grouped according to the following three divisions:

Humanities, including the Departments of Greek, Latin, Bible and Religion, English, Fine Arts, French, German, Spanish, and Philosophy; Professor Holbrook, Chairman.

Natural Sciences, including the Departments of Biology, Chemistry, Physics, and Mathematics; Professor Mayo, Chairman.

Social Sciences, including the Departments of Economics, History, Political Science, Psychology, and Physical Education; Professor Hubbard, Chairman.

COURSE CLASSIFICATION

Each course listed in this catalogue has a course number. At the right of this number will be found numerical designations in parentheses which indicate the course length and credits carried by the course. There are three variations. For example: English 201-202 (0-6) is a continuing (two semester) course and carries six semester hours of credit when the entire course has been completed. Biology 103 (4) meets for one semester only and carries four semester hours of credit. French 303-304 (3-3) comprises two semesters of work, and the student may take one or both semesters. Normally the courses with odd course numbers meet in the fall semester and those with even course numbers meet in the spring semester.

BIBLE AND RELIGION

PROFESSORS MCRAE, CLOWER; ASSISTANT PROFESSOR NORMENT

For a concentration in Bible and Religion and Philosophy the student must complete eighteen semester hours in each department.

BIBLE 305. (3)

The Pentateuch. A study of the first five books of the Old Testament.

BIBLE 306. (3)

The Hebrew Prophets. An investigation of the rise and development of the prophetic movement in Israel, with particular emphasis upon the relevance of the prophets for their own and later times.

BIBLE 308. (3)

The Intertestament Period. An analysis of the transition period in Jewish history from Cyrus to Herod in its relation to postexilic Judaism and New Testament thought.

BIBLE 309. (3)

Jesus in the Synoptic Tradition. An evaluation of the person and work of Jesus as portrayed in Matthew, Mark and Luke. (May be offered both semesters.)

BIBLE 310. (3)

Luke-Acts. A study of the writings and the distinctive perspective of Luke, with particular attention to the book of Acts.

BIBLE 311. (3)

The Labors and Letters of Paul. An examination of Paul's role in the development of the New Testament Church.

BIBLE 312. (3)

Romans. A study of Paul's theology as developed in his letter to the Church at Rome.

BIBLE 314. (3)

The Johannine Literature. A study of the five New Testament books traditionally associated with "John"—The Gospel of John, the Epistles of John, the Revelation.

RELIGION 316. (3)

Christian Ethics. A study of the ethical relevance of Christian faith as understood by the New Testament Church and subsequent Christian interpreters.

RELIGION 317. (3)

Religion in America. A study of the role of religion in the development of American culture, with particular attention to distinctive Christian groups and to significant trends in American Christian thought.

RELIGION 405. (3)

Religions of India. A study of the religions of India and of the historical and cultural context in which they developed.

RELIGION 406. (3)

Religions of East Asia. A study of Taoism, Confucianism, Shintoism, and Buddhism in the context of the history and culture of East Asia.

BIOLOGY

ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR TURNEY; ASSISTANT PROFESSORS CRAWFORD, GEMBORYS; MR. BRUCE

Requirements for a major in Biology include the following courses: Physics 101-102; Chemistry 101-102, 211-212; Biology 103-104, 211, 222, 251, 311; a seminar course; and an additional two courses selected from the remaining offerings of the department after consultation with the Biology faculty.

BIOLOGY 103. (4)

Selected Problems in Contemporary Biology. An introduction to biological phenomena that contribute to man's appreciation of his environment. Topics include a study of molecular and Mendelian genetics, animal and plant evolution and biotic interrelationships. This course fills the biology portion of the science requirement for graduation and unless otherwise specified by the staff, serves as a prerequisite for all other courses in the department.

BIOLOGY 104. (4)

General Biological Science. An introduction to the molecular, anatomical, physiological and related homeostatic phenomena of living systems with an emphasis placed on higher plants and animals. Unless otherwise specified by the staff, a prerequisite for this course is Biology 103.

BIOLOGY 204. (2)

Seminar in Parasitology. A study of the parasites in local vertebrates with emphasis on collecting, technique of mounting, identification, and life histories. This seminar, consisting of laboratory and reference work, is designed primarily for biology majors, with three hour sessions in alternate weeks. Prerequisite, Biology 103-104.

BIOLOGY 205. (2)

Seminar in Comparative Animal Physiology. A comparative study of osmotic balance, ion regulation, respiration, metabolism, nutrition, nervous systems and hormonal balance primarily among invertebrate forms of life. Meetings twice a month, no laboratory.

BIOLOGY 211. (4)

Developmental Biology. Principles of embryology involving physiological, biochemical, and genetical influences on differentiation of cells and tissues with emphasis on the origin of vertebrate organ systems. Three lectures and one laboratory per week.

BIOLOGY 222. (4)

Comparative Vertebrate Anatomy. Morphology and evolution of organs and organ systems in chordate animals. Three lectures and one laboratory per week. Prerequisite, Biology 211 or by permission of instructor.

BIOLOGY 241. (4)

Invertebrate Zoology. Morphology, ecology, systematics, physiology, and evolution of invertebrate animals. Three lectures and one laboratory per week. Offered second semester 1968-1969.

BIOLOGY 251-252. (4-4)

Bioecology. A consideration of physical and biotic factors of the environment and how these factors affect both plant and animal life. The laboratory will include an intensive study of these relationships as illustrated in both aquatic and terrestrial communities. Field trips will be made. Prerequisite, Biology 103-104.

BIOLOGY 261. (4)

Birds and Mammals. Basic taxonomy, ecology, evolution and some biological principles of the homiothermic vertebrates. Laboratory studies include consideration of population dynamics, sampling procedures, and recognition of these animals. Independent research and collection required. Three lectures, one laboratory per week.

BIOLOGY 311. (4)

Genetics. Principles of heredity and variation as developed from the morphological, physiological, and biochemical levels of gene action. Three lectures and one laboratory per week. Prerequisite, Chemistry 101-102.

BIOLOGY 320. (4)

Microbiology. Morphology, physiology, systematics and ecology of microorganisms with major emphasis on the bacteria. This course is conducted along audio-tutorial lines and is open only to upperclassmen with the chairman's approval. Three study sessions per week along with special laboratory problems. Prerequisite, Chemistry 101-102.

BIOLOGY 331-332. (4-4)

Biochemistry and Cell Physiology. A structural and functional study of the cell, with emphasis in the first semester on biochemical and ultrastructural aspects of cell metabolism and in the second semester on major elements of cell physiology, including cell growth and division, differentiation, irritability, contractility, active transport and photosynthesis. Laboratory exercises include problems in viscometry, protein fingerprinting, histochemistry, enzyme isolation and purification, enzyme kinetics, electrophoresis, ion exchange chromatography, nerve-muscle physiology, differential centrifugation, manometry and spectrophotometry. Three lectures and one laboratory per week. Prerequisite or corequisite, Chemistry 211-212. Prerequisite for second semester: Biology 331 or consent of the instructor.

BIOLOGY 342. (4)

Plant Physiology. A consideration of the fundamental life processes of plants, including photosynthesis, water relations, growth regulators, photoperiodic responses, and mineral nutrition. Primary emphasis to be placed on laboratory work and independent research. Two lectures, two laboratories per week.

INDEPENDENT WORK

Independent study for one credit hour per semester is available in the department. Opportunities exist for independent work and study at coastal marine laboratories during the summer months. Interested students should consult with the biology faculty about the program.

CHEMISTRY

PROFESSORS SMITH, PORTERFIELD; ASSISTANT PROFESSORS BISSELL, BUTCHER, SIPE; MR. BASS.

The requirements for a major in Chemistry are:

1. Chemistry courses must include 101-102, 211-212, 204, 313-314, 315-316, 411-412, and two semesters chosen from the following: Chemistry 403, 414, 416, 418, or Biology 331. For an ACS-accredited degree Chemistry 403, 416, and one other course from the list above or Chemistry Honors must be taken.

2. The 18-hour natural science requirement must be satisfied as follows: Mathematics 101-102, Physics 101-102, Biology 103.

3. The student must satisfactorily complete Mathematics 201-202 and Physics 210.

4. Biology 104 and additional mathematics are recommended.

CHEMISTRY 101-102. (0-8)

Principles of Chemistry. A study of the basic concepts of physical and inorganic chemistry. Laboratory work consists of a series of open-ended projects which require independent use of library and laboratory facilities and which include techniques of quantitative analysis. Three lectures and one laboratory per week. Breakage deposit, $12.00.

CHEMISTRY 204. (1)

Organic Laboratory Problems. The student is required to adapt modern synthetic methods to the macro-scale preparation of some previously-unreported compounds. One laboratory per week. Corequisite, Chemistry 212. Open to chemistry and interscience majors; others by permission of the instructor.

CHEMISTRY 211-212. (0-8)

Organic Chemistry. An integrated treatment of aliphatic and aromatic compounds of carbon with emphasis on reaction mechanisms, stereochemistry, and spectroscopy. The laboratory is devoted partly to open-ended multi-step synthesis projects and partly to qualitative analysis of organic mixtures, including the use of chromatography and spectroscopy. Three lectures and one laboratory per week. Breakage deposit, $15.00. Prerequisite, Chemistry 101-102.

CHEMISTRY 313. (3)

Physical Chemistry I: Thermodynamics and Kinetics. Lecture and recitation three hours per week. Prerequisites, Chemistry 204, 211-212, Mathematics 201-202, Physics 101-102.

CHEMISTRY 314. (3)

Physical Chemistry II: Electrochemistry and States of Matter. Lecture and recitation three hours per week. Prerequisites as for Chemistry 313.

CHEMISTRY 315-316. (2-2)

Physical Chemistry Laboratory. Accurate determination of selected physical and chemical properties of compounds synthesized in Chemistry 204. The student must select and adapt the best experimental approach by creative use of library materials and laboratory instruments and materials. Two laboratories per week. Breakage deposit, $15.00. Corequisites, Chemistry 313, 314.

CHEMISTRY 403. (3)

Physical Chemistry III: Atomic and Molecular Structure. Lecture and recitation three hours per week. Prerequisites, Chemistry 211-212, Mathematics 301-302, Physics 101-102.

CHEMISTRY 411-412. (0-5)

Instrumental Analysis. Use of advanced instrumentation in qualitative and quantitative analysis and in molecular structure determination. Three lectures and one laboratory per week, first semester; one laboratory per week, second semester. Breakage deposit $10.00. Prerequisites, Chemistry 313-314, Physics 210.

CHEMISTRY 418. (0-3)

Chemical Instrumentation. Theory and practice of advanced techniques, using recent literature on a tutorial basis. Prerequisite, Chemistry 411.

CHEMISTRY 414. (3)

Advanced Organic. Selected topics from the following areas: reaction mechanisms, conformational analysis, structure elucidation, advanced syntheses, and structure versus reactivity. Three lectures per week. Prerequisites, Chemistry 313-314, or Chemistry 313 and consent of instructor.

CHEMISTRY 416. (3)

Advanced Inorganic. Continuation of structural calculations from Chemistry 403, and other theoretical aspects. Descriptive material on collateral reading basis. Three lectures per week. Prerequisite, Chemistry 403 or consent of instructor.

UNDERGRADUATE RESEARCH PARTICIPATION

At any time after the first semester of the freshman year, a qualified student may be invited to participate in research supervised by a staff member. Entrance into this program will allow those students contemplating graduate work to receive up to three and one-half years of experience. Juniors and Seniors participating in this program may register for Chemistry Honors, with the approval of the Department, and receive academic credit for summer and academic year work. This program is currently supported by a National Science Foundation grant in excess of $20,000 for 1967-1970.

ECONOMICS

ASSISTANT PROFESSORS PEARLMAN, SWAN; MESSRS. CRISTO, HENNEMAN.

The requirements for a major in Economics are 27-30 hours in Economics courses including Economics 101, 301, 401-402; 9 hours in Mathematics including Mathematics 203.

ECONOMICS 101. (3)

Elements of Modern Economics. The general problem of allocating resources to satisfy human wants. Markets and the price system in the American economy. Government and non-profit organizations. Output and employment in the economy as a whole. American's international economic relationships. The economic system of Soviet Russia.

ECONOMICS 301. (3)

Money and Banking. Analysis of fractional-reserve banking and the Federal Reserve System. The role of money in the economic system as reviewed by Keynesian and neo-classical monetary theory. Fiscal and monetary policy. Prerequisite, Economics 101.

ECONOMICS 302. (3)

Comparative Economic Systems. Resource allocation and economic growth under various institutional frameworks—capitalism, the command economy, and mixed economic systems. Both theoretical models and existing economic systems will be covered. Prerequisite, Economics 101.

ECONOMICS 303. (3)

Economic Development of Western Civilization. Features of historical economic development of interest to Americans are studied, from the ancient world to the present day. While considering particularly the West, the class looks also at the non-West and at parallels and differences between the two. Prerequisite, Economics 101.

ECONOMICS 304. (3)

History of Economic Thought. This class studies changing economic attitudes and theories from the beginning of history to our own time, as related to other areas of social thought and to changes in economic organization. Aspects of contemporary interest are emphasized. Prerequisite, Economics 101 and Economics 303.

ECONOMICS 305. (3)

International Economics. A study of the basis for international trade. The Balance of International Payments and Adjustment mechanisms. Current problems related to the role of the United States in the world economy and international economic reform. Prerequisite, Economics 101.

ECONOMICS 306. (3)

Economic Development. Theories of development mainly related to the underdeveloped economics. The role of capital investment, international trade, and foreign aid in economic growth. Case studies will be used. Prerequisite, Economics 101.

ECONOMICS 401. (3)

Economic Theory and Method. Recent and contemporary theories and procedures are surveyed, so as to provide an appreciation of differing approaches and of methods of analysis in present-day use. Open only to seniors who are economics majors.

ECONOMICS 402. (3)

Independent Studies in Economics. Each student will investigate a special topic or area, which may be in some field not previously studied or in one in which previous study can be carried further on a particular part or problem. A paper is to be presented, describing some features of the work done and embodying the conclusions reached. In addition to his own study, the student will be expected to criticize that of another. Individual work is supplemented by group discussion. Prerequisite, Economics 401. Open only to seniors who are economics majors.

ENGLISH

PROFESSORS ROPP, CRAWLEY, SIMPSON; ASSISTANT PROFESSOR HOFFMAN.

The requirements for a major in English are 24 hours in English courses not including the 6 hours in the degree requirement. Philosophy 301-302, 201; History 204.

Completion of two semesters of work at the 300 level in Latin or Greek and two semesters of work at the 200 level in French or German, or completion of two semesters of work at the 200 level in Greek or Latin, German or French, and one other Language. (May be partially satisfied in the degree requirement.)

ENGLISH 201-202. (0-6)

The History of English Literature. A survey course in the development of English literature from the beginning to the modern period. Emphasis is placed upon readings from the major writers, and upon the study of representative selections in class. Parallel reading is required. The aim of the course is first-hand acquaintance with the best in English literature.

ENGLISH 301-302. (0-6)

Shakespeare. All the principal plays of the dramatist are read. The course includes a careful study of Shakespeare as a poet and dramatic artist, and a study of the development of the Elizabethan theater.

ENGLISH 303-304. (0-6)

American Literature. A study of the growth of American literature, with emphasis upon the political, social, and economic forces that have strongly influenced the literary development of the nation.

ENGLISH 305. (3)

History of the English Language. A study of the growth and development of the English language.

ENGLISH 306. (3)

English Literature of the Restoration and the Eighteenth Century. A study of English Literature from 1660 to 1798. Emphasis is placed on the major writers of the period. Not offered in 1968-69.

ENGLISH 307-308. (0-6)

English Literature since 1832. A study of the poets and essayists from 1832 to the present. Stress is placed on the change from the Victorian world to the modern.

ENGLISH 309. (3)

Contemporary British and American Poetry. This course is a critical study of the major poets in British and American poetry of the twentieth century.

ENGLISH 311. (3)

The English Romantics. A study of the major Romantic poets, together with a survey of other Romantic and Pre-Romantic writers. Not offered in 1968-69.

ENGLISH 401-402. (0-6)

English Drama. First semester. English drama, exclusive of the Shakespearean, is studied in its growth from the medieval to the modern period. Modern Drama. Second semester. A study of the growth of modern drama in Europe and America from 1880 to the present time. The development of the theatre in this period is carefully traced. Not offered in 1968-69.

ENGLISH 403-404. (3-3)

English Novel. First semester. A survey of the beginnings of the novel in England and a study of the major novelists of the nineteenth century. Second semester. The contemporary novel in England and America.

ENGLISH 405. (3)

Early English Literature in Translation. A study of English Literature from the Beginning to 1400, exclusive of Chaucer. Not offered in 1968-69.

ENGLISH 406. (3)

Chaucer. A detailed study of The Canterbury Tales in Middle English. The other main works of Chaucer will be read in translation. Not offered in 1968-69.

ENGLISH 407. (3)

Milton. Milton's poetry, with emphasis upon Paradise Lost, Paradise Regained, and Samson Agonistes as a trilogy. His prose is considered in so far as it contributes to an understanding of his thought and poetic achievement.

ENGLISH 408. (3)

Spenser. Most of Spenser's poetry is read, with emphasis upon The Shepherdes Calendar and The Faerie Queene. A careful study is made of epic tradition and of the milieu to which The Faerie Queene belongs.

ENGLISH 410. (3)

Literary Criticism. Fundamental critical theories from Aristotle to the present are studied; special attention is given to modern trends in criticism. Students are introduced to the practice of critical techniques.

ENGLISH 419-420. (3-3)

Creative Writing. Emphasis is on writing short stories, although work may be done on verse, plays, and the novel. Open to upperclassmen, with the consent of the instructor. Elective credit only.

FINE ARTS

PROFESSOR THOMPSON

FINE ARTS 301-302. (3-3)

The History of the Fine Arts. This course is designed to promote the enjoyment of the fine arts—painting, architecture, and sculpture. A knowledge of ancient, medieval, and modern history and of ancient and modern languages is useful as background information but is not a requirement. The course includes a spring trip to the Washington galleries. Open to upperclassmen with the consent of the professor.

FINE ARTS 303-304. (3-3)

Music Appreciation. Primarily a listening course. The aim is an increased familiarity with the world's great music, the major musical forms, and the outstanding composers. No special musical knowledge or ability is required. Open to upperclassmen with the consent of the professor. The work of the first semester is a prerequisite for the second. Not offered in 1968-69.

FRENCH

PROFESSORS HOLBROOK, LEDUC.

The requirements for a major in French are 24 hours in French courses numbered 301 and higher; Fine Arts 301-302; an ancient or another modern language through 202.

For a concentration in two modern languages the student must complete in each language a one-year course at the 400 level.

FRENCH 101-102. (0-6)

Introduction to French. Grammar, reading, and drill in pronunciation. Credit toward satisfaction of the language requirement only if followed by French 201-202.

FRENCH 201-202. (0-6)

Intermediate French. A balanced course with emphasis on reading. Prerequisite, French 101-102 or two years of high-school French.

FRENCH 301-302. (0-6)

Modern French Literature. A survey of French literature from the French Revolution to the present; representative readings from major works. A considerable amount of outside reading is done in this course. Prerequisite, French 201-202, or its equivalent.

FRENCH 303-304. (3-3)

French Literature of the Twentieth Century. A study of the outstanding authors and literary genres of the period. Prerequisite, French 301-302.

FRENCH 401-402. (3-3)

French Civilization. A study in French of the history, geography, art, architecture, customs, manners, and government of France. French will be used regularly in the recitations. Sources studied include literary works, historical accounts, factual compilations, and current periodicals. Prerequisite, French 301-302 or permission of the instructor.

FRENCH 403-404. (3-3)

French Literature Before the Revolution. First semester: from the earliest period to 1715. Second semester: the 18th century. Prerequisite, French 301-302.

GERMAN

PROFESSORS FIRENZE, LEDUC.

GERMAN 101-102. (0-6)

Introduction to German. A thorough familiarity with the language is developed by constant grammatical drill, composition, and translation. A reasonable amount of simple narrative prose is read. Credit toward satisfaction of the language requirement only if followed by German 201-202.

GERMAN 201-202. (0-6)

Intermediate German. The transition to more difficult reading material is effected as easily and yet as rapidly as possible. A systematic review of grammar is made. Prerequisite, German 101-102 or two years of high school German.

GERMAN 301-302. (0-6)

Survey of German Literature. The history of German literature from the beginnings to our day, with class reading of selected poetry, prose and drama of the 19th and 20th centuries. Term reports on extensive parallel reading. Prerequisite, German 201-202, or its equivalent.

GREEK

PROFESSOR ODOM; ASSISTANT PROFESSOR BRINKLEY

The requirements for a major in Greek are at least 12 hours in Greek courses at the 300 level; Philosophy 301; History 321, 322; Fine Arts 301.

A concentration in Latin and Greek will require at least 12 hours in each language, and 6 hours in one at the 300 level. Philosophy 301; Fine Arts 301; History 321-322.

GREEK 101-102. (0-6)

Elementary Greek. This course is an introduction to the Greek language, through the study of forms, vocabulary, and syntax. During the last part of the year selections of simple Greek prose will be read.

78 Course Offerings

---

GREEK 201-202. (0-6)

Intermediate Greek. Selections will be read from the works of Greek prose writers. There will be a continuing review of grammar.

GREEK 301. (3)

The Greek New Testament. Selections drawn largely from Luke and Acts will be read in the original Greek. Some time will be devoted to lectures, collateral readings, and reports on the principles of palaeography and textual criticism.

GREEK 302. (3)

Greek Drama. Representative plays of Aeschylus, Sophocles, Euripides, or Aristophanes will be read and discussed as dramatic pieces, and in their relation to the origin of tragedy and comedy and the development of the theatre.

GREEK 303-304. (3-3)

Greek Historians. Selections from Herodotus' History of the Persian Wars or Thucydides' History of the Peloponnesian War. Parallel work will focus on the beginnings of historical writing and the principles of historiography.

GREEK 305-308. (3 each semester)

Advanced Greek. The reading and discussion of selected works of Greek literature, chosen according to the needs of the class. Among authors that may be selected are Homer, Plato, Plutarch, Demosthenes, and the Athenian orators.

The courses listed above at the 300-level have as prerequisite Greek 201-202. Of these, only as many will be taught in any one session as the demand justifies.

GREEK HISTORY 321. (3)

A historical survey of the cultural, political, economic, and social aspects of Greek civilization to the time of the Roman Empire. This course does not assume a knowledge of Greek and will not satisfy any of the language requirements. It carries credit toward a History major. (See also Roman History 322.)

HONORS

Honors work in the form of supervised reading and research is available to advanced students.

HISTORY

PROFESSOR BLISS; ASSISTANT PROFESSORS LAINE, HEINEMANN, SIMMS.

The requirements for a major in History are 30 hours in History courses including History 101-102; any one course in Political Science; Economics 101, 302; Philosophy 201.

A concentration in History and Economics will require the completion of a minimum of 18 hours in each field and such cognate courses as the departments of History and Economics may prescribe for each individual student.

HISTORY 101-102. (3-3)

Modern Europe. The study of Western Civilization from the Renaissance and Reformation to the present century with emphasis on those movements and institutions which have determined the form of the contemporary Western World.

HISTORY 201-202. (3-3)

United States. The first semester is confined to the period from the establishment of the colonies to the close of the Civil War with emphasis on the period following 1763, especially the years 1830-1860. The second semester begins with Reconstruction and ends with the New Deal, with emphasis on the rise of Progressivism.

HISTORY 203-204. (3-3)

England and the British Empire. The origins and growth of English institutions and their spread to other parts of the world. Particular attention is devoted to the English contribution in government and law, to Britain's relations with the rest of the world, and to the rise and decline of her empire. The first semester ends with the overthrow of James II. Prerequisite, History 101-102.

HISTORY 205. (3)

Colonial America. After a consideration of the motives of English colonization and the actual establishment of the colonies, particular attention is given to the factors shaping the economic, social and political institutions of colonial America and to the origins of the Revolution. This course will be offered in 1968-1969.

HISTORY 302. (3)

Medieval Civilization. From the decline of the Roman Empire to the beginnings of the Modern Age. Emphasis is placed on the rise of feudal institutions, the rise of Christianity and the medieval church, the conflict between papal and secular governments, and the beginnings of nationality. This course will be offered in 1968-1969.

HISTORY 303-304. (3-3)

Civil War and Reconstruction. The United States from the Missouri Compromise to the Compromise of 1877. The first semester covers the awakening of American Nationalism, Jacksonian Democracy, Manifest Destiny, and the origins of the Civil War. The War and Reconstruction comprise the second semester.

HISTORY 307-308. (3-3)

The Far East. The impact of the West on East Asia and the resulting response of Asia to the Western invasion. Special emphasis is given to China—the traditional Chinese culture, society, and institutions, the influence of Chinese civilization on surrounding countries, the growth of nationalism in China, the Japanese invasion of China, and the rise to power of the Chinese Communists.

HISTORY 311-312. (3-3)

Russian History. The first semester covers the period from the founding of Kievan Russia in the ninth century to the end of Alexander I's reign in 1825. The second semester carries the story to the present. This course will be offered in 1968-1969.

HISTORY 313-314. (3-3)

United States Diplomatic History. A survey of American Diplomacy from the Revolution to the present with in-depth analysis of the events since 1898 which have determined the present position of the United States in world affairs.

HISTORY 401-402. (3-3)

The Twentieth Century World. The first semester is a study of the international scene between 1918 and 1945 with emphasis on conditions leading to the outbreak of World War II. The second semester is essentially concerned with the origins of tension between East and West blocs with particular emphasis on developments in the Near East, Africa, and Asia. This course will not be offered in 1968-1969.

HISTORY 403-404. (3-3)

Modern America. The United States since the end of Reconstruction. The triumph of the industrial system, the Progressive movement, and World War I are covered in the first semester; the Twenties, the New Deal, World War II and its aftermath are major topics of the second. Admission by consent of the instructor.

HISTORY 405-406. (3-3)

Europe from 1789 to 1919. A study of Europe from the beginning of the French Revolution to the Treaty of Versailles, with the year 1870 as the demarcation point between the work of the two semesters. Along with political and diplomatic history, the course examines the cultural and intellectual currents in nineteenth century Europe. It will not be offered in 1968-1969.

HISTORY 407-408. (3-3)

Renaissance and Reformation. The semester on the Renaissance examines the nature of the Renaissance and its manifestations in the various European countries. That on the Reformation considers the origins of Luther's revolt against the Catholic Church, the course of the Reformation with special attention to its different forms from country to country, and the development of the Counter-Reformation. This course will not be offered in 1968-1969.

INTERSCIENCE

FACULTY OF THE DEPARTMENTS OF BIOLOGY, CHEMISTRY, MATHEMATICS, AND PHYSICS.

The requirement for the Interscience Major is 58 semester hours work in Mathematics (beyond the 100 level) and the Natural Sciences, including a concentration in one discipline.

The minimum requirement for a concentration in each department is:

- (a) Biology—23 semester hours
- (b) Chemistry—22 semester hours, including at least 3 semester hours in Physical Chemistry.
- (c) Mathematics—Mathematics 301-302 and an additional 6 semester hours at the 300 or 400 level.
- (d) Physics—20 semester hours and Mathematics 301-302.

In addition, courses used to fulfill the 58 hour requirement must form a coherent program. To assure this, the student's major program must be approved by the department in which the concentration is taken, and must be filed with the registrar. This will normally be done at the end of the student's sophomore year.

LATIN

PROFESSOR THOMPSON; ASSISTANT PROFESSORS THOMAS, BRINKLEY; MR. HOGAN.

The requirements for a major in Latin are at least 12 hours in Latin courses at the 300 level; Philosophy 301; History 321, 322; Fine Arts 301.

A concentration in Latin and Greek will require at least 12 hours in each language, and 6 hours in one at the 300 level. Philosophy 301; Fine Arts 301; History 321-322.

LATIN 101-102. (0-6)

Beginning Latin. This course is designed for students with no previous Latin. Its content is basically that of Latin 103-104, but meetings will be held five times a week instead of three for additional instruction in Latin fundamentals.

LATIN 103-104. (0-6)

Readings in Roman History or Classical Mythology. This course will consist of a review of Latin fundamentals and the reading of easy prose comprising a survey of Roman history or classical mythology. Prerequisite, two years of secondary school Latin.

LATIN 201-202. (0-6)

First semester: Ovid. Selections from Ovid's Ars Amatoria will be read. In addition, a part of each week's work will be devoted to a study of the Latin element in the English language, with a view to enlarging both the English and the Latin vocabulary of the student.

Second Semester: Vergil. Selections from the Aeneid. The etymological study will be continued. Prerequisite, three entrance units in Latin or Latin 101-102 or Latin 103-104.

LATIN 301-302 (3-3)

Latin Literature of the Republic. Reading matter will be chosen from the comedies of Plautus and Terence, the essays of Cicero, the De Rerum Natura of Lucretius, and the poems of Catullus. Some time will be devoted also to the study of the Greek element in the English language. This course alternates with Latin 303-304 and will not be given in 1968-69. Prerequisite, four entrance units in Latin or Latin 201-202.

LATIN 303-304. (3-3)

Latin Literature of the Empire. This course will follow the plan of Latin 301-302, but the reading matter will come from Livy, Horace, Seneca, Petronius, Martial, Tacitus, and Pliny. This course alternates with Latin 301-302 and will be given in 1968-69. Prerequisite, four entrance units of Latin or Latin 201-202.

ROMAN HISTORY 322. (3)

The rise and decline of Rome as a world-state. Its importance to Western civilization. Its contributions in fields of government, law, literature, art, architecture. The beginnings of the Christian Church.

This course does not assume a knowledge of Latin and will not satisfy any of the language requirements. It carries credit toward a History major. See also Greek History 321.

The following courses will be given only in case of sufficient demand. Prerequisite, Latin 301-302 or Latin 303-304.

LATIN 401-408. (3 each semester)

Advanced readings in Latin literature. The courses will be devoted to intensive study of individual authors such as Lucretius, Tacitus, Livy, Ovid, Horace, or to literary genres such as Roman satire, elegiac poetry, epistolography, history.

LATIN 411. (3)

Latin composition and grammar.

LATIN 412. (3)

Latin palaeography.

HONORS

Honors work in the form of supervised reading and research is available to advanced students.

MATHEMATICS

PROFESSOR MAYO; ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR SELDEN; ASSISTANT PROFESSORS ESPIGH, FRANKE; MESSRS. ENGEL, MEACHAM.

The requirements for a major in Mathematics are a minimum of 36 hours in Mathematics courses including Mathematics 303-304, 305-306, 403-404.

MATHEMATICS 103-104. (3-3)

Fundamental Mathematics. Algebraic and transcendental functions, inequalities, matrices, sequences, series, probability, and sets. Math 103 is prerequisite for Math 104.

MATHEMATICS 106. (3)

Introduction to Digital Computers. Techniques of programming in the FORTRAN language, working primarily with non-scientific applications. Prerequisite, Mathematics 103-104 or its equivalent. Not open to students eligible for Mathematics 205 and may not be used to satisfy the B.A. math requirement.

MATHEMATICS 201-202. (0-6)

Analytic Geometry and Calculus. Plane analytic geometry, differential and integral calculus. Prerequisite, Math 103-104, or equivalent.

MATHEMATICS 203. (3)

Statistics. Elementary mathematical statistics and probability. Prerequisite, Mathematics 103-104.

MATHEMATICS 204. (3)

Mathematics for Business Management. Modern mathematical concepts and structures as applied to business management. Prerequisite, Mathematics 103-104.

MATHEMATICS 205. (3)

Computer Programming. An introduction to the techniques of computer programming. Prerequisite, Mathematics 201-202 or the consent of the department. Two lectures and one laboratory per week.

MATHEMATICS 206. (3)

Computer Systems. Computing systems and both numeric and non-numeric languages, and their construction. Prerequisite Mathematics 205.

MATHEMATICS 301. (3)

Calculus. Infinite series, hyperbolic functions, solid analytic geometry, partial derivatives, multiple integrals, and vectors. Prerequisite, Mathematics 201-202.

MATHEMATICS 302. (3)

Differential Equations. Theory and applications of solutions of ordinary differential equations. Prerequisite, Mathematics 301.

MATHEMATICS 303. (3)

Modern Algebra. Sets, rings, integral domains, number systems, fields, and groups. Prerequisite, Mathematics 201-202. (Offered in 1967-68 and alternate years thereafter).

MATHEMATICS 304. (3)

Linear Algebra. Linear systems, functionals, transformations, vectors, and vector spaces. Prerequisite, Mathematics 303. (Offered in 1967-68 and alternate years thereafter).

MATHEMATICS 305-306. (3-3)

Geometry. Euclidean geometry from an advanced viewpoint and an introduction to non-Euclidean geometrics. Prerequisite, Mathematics 201-202. Mathematics 305 is prerequisite for Mathematics 306. (Offered in 1968-69 and alternate years thereafter).

MATHEMATICS 307. (3)

Numerical Analysis. Solution to problems of analysis by numeric methods, and study of error analysis. Prerequisite Mathematics 205 and 302.

MATHEMATICS 403-404. (3-3)

Analysis. Number systems, limits, functions, point sets, partial derivatives, transformations and mappings, vectors and vector fields, line and surface integrals. Prerequisite, Mathematics 301-302. Mathematics 403 is prerequisite for Mathematics 404.

MATHEMATICS 405-406. (3-3)

Topics in Advanced Mathematics. Partial differential equations, complex functions, Fourier analysis, and numerical methods. Admission by consent of the department.

MATHEMATICS 407-408. (3-3)

Mathematics Seminar. A seminar course of selected topics in mathematics. Admission by consent of the department.

MUSIC (See Fine Arts)

PHILOSOPHY

PROFESSOR ALLAN; ASSISTANT PROFESSOR IVERSON; MR. GAMMON

The requirements for a major in Philosophy are Philosophy 201, 301-302 and an additional 15 hours in Philosophy courses. Prerequisites: 6 hours in Latin or Greek courses; Psychology 211. Recommended: 6 hours in German courses.

PHILOSOPHY 201. (3)

Logic. Deductive reasoning, causal analysis, hypotheses and other aspects of scientific method; introduction to symbolic logic.

PHILOSOPHY 301-302. (3-3)

History of Philosophy. The leading systems of Western thought from the early Greeks to the present with emphasis upon the great philosophers such as Plato, Aristotle, Aquinas, Kant, Hegel, Kierkegaard and Whitehead; the relevance of their thought to social, political, and religious movements. Open to qualified sophomores.

PHILOSOPHY 303. (3)

An Introduction to Metaphysics. The nature of truth; the relationship of mind and body; space, time and cosmology; freedom of the will; the existence of God; the meaning of history.

PHILOSOPHY 304. (3)

Ethics. The principal ethical theories of the right and the good; the problem of ethical decision and the scale of values.

PHILOSOPHY 306. (3)

Social Philosophy. The nature of man in society as viewed from the standpoint of classical realism, idealism, liberalism, Marxism, pragmatism and existentialism.

PHILOSOPHY 401. (3)

Contemporary Philosophy. A survey of idealism, realism, pragmatism, existentialism and analytical philosophy in the twentieth century. Conducted as a seminar. Prerequisite, six semester hours of Philosophy.

PHILOSOPHY 402. (3)

The Existentialists: Kierkegaard to Marcel. Conducted as a seminar. Prerequisite, three semester hours of Philosophy.

PHILOSOPHY 403. (3)

Contemporary Philosophy of Religion. A study of such thinkers as Buber, Marcel, Maritain, Scheler and Tillich.

PHILOSOPHY 404. (3)

Contemporary Ethical Systems. A study of such moral philosophers as G. E. Moore, W. D. Ross, R. M. Hare and Reinhold Niebuhr. Prerequisite, three semester hours in Philosophy. Given in alternate years with Philosophy 403.

HONORS

Honors Course. Special study of some classical or contemporary school or philosopher.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

MESSRS. BURRELL, PEGRAM.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION 301-302. (2-2)

The purpose of this course is to give training in the coaching of football, basketball, baseball, wrestling, and track to those men who expect to coach after graduation. Men who expect to teach in secondary schools will find the course valuable, as oftentimes they are called on to coach one or more sports. The course will require two scheduled lecture periods per week and attendance at the various varsity practices. Elective only for juniors and seniors.

HEALTH EDUCATION 303. (2)

A survey of the basic principles of good health. A study of physiology, anatomy and various diseases. Elective for juniors and seniors.

Only two hours of credit in Physical Education are allowed toward the satisfaction of the 124 hours required for a degree.

PHYSICS

PROFESSORS GILMER, JOYNER, MAYO; ASSISTANT PROFESSORS KIESS, BEARD; MR. LAWRENCE.

To satisfy the requirements for a physics major, the student must complete a minimum of 34 semester hours in the department including at least four semesters of laboratory, and must complete Chemistry 101-102. Because of the prerequisites to advanced work in physics, a major must complete Mathematics 201-202, and Mathematics 301-302. Students planning graduate study should take all courses offered by the department, and also additional work in mathematics.

Physics 101-102 is prerequisite for all courses at or above the 200 level. Mathematics 301-302 is prerequisite to all courses at the 300 and 400 level.

PHYSICS 101-102. (3-3)

General Physics. A survey of classical and modern physics at the elementary level. Corequisite, Physics 151-152. Prerequisite, Mathematics 103-104 or its equivalent. Physics 101 is prerequisite to Physics 102.

PHYSICS 103-104. (1-1)

Problems in General Physics. Extensive work in the solving of elementary classical physics problems. This course is designed for the student who intends to continue in the physical sciences, engineering, or mathematics. Admission by consent of the instructor.

PHYSICS 151-152. (1-1)

General Physics Laboratory. An experimental examination of a variety of physical phenomena, along with an introduction to laboratory techniques and procedure.

PHYSICS 207. (2)

Modern Physics Laboratory. An examination of the experimental basis of our knowledge of atomic structure. Independent work is required. Prerequisite, Mathematics 202.

PHYSICS 209. (3)

Modern Physics. An introduction to special relativity and quantum theory followed by a brief survey of basic atomic and nuclear phenomena. Prerequisite, Mathematics 202.

PHYSICS 210. (2)

Electronics. Aimed at training the student in the design of simple circuits through the use of self-paced laboratory-oriented materials which include a minimum of circuit theory. Prerequisite, Mathematics 202, or enrollment therein.

PHYSICS 212. (3)

Mechanics I. Particle dynamics is treated with particular emphasis on harmonic motion, motion in a central force field, and the two body problem. Prerequisite, Mathematics 301.

PHYSICS 303. (3)

Optics and Wave Motion. After a brief survey of geometrical optics, the properties of waves common to the entire electromagnetic spectrum are treated.

PHYSICS 304. (3)

Kinetic Theory and Thermodynamics. An introduction to kinetic theory and thermodynamics, with a brief survey of statistical mechanics.

PHYSICS 305-306. (2-2)

Advanced Laboratory. A laboratory course designed to acquaint the student with the instruments used in basic physical measurements and with the design of experiments.

PHYSICS 401-402. (3-3)

Electricity and Magnetism. A study of electrostatics, electrodynamics, dielectrics, magnetism, and elementary field theory. Advanced mathematical techniques are used throughout.

PHYSICS 404. (3)

Quantum Mechanics. The physical foundations for the quantum theory are studied. Schroedinger's equation is introduced and used to analyze elementary aspects of the atomic nucleus and the solid state.

PHYSICS 405. (3)

Mechanics II. A treatment of the mechanics of particles including an introduction to fluid mechanics, the motion of rigid bodies, and the theory of small vibrations. Lagrange's equations are developed and used throughout.

POLITICAL SCIENCE

ASSOCIATE PROFESSORS HUBARD, HOLLY.

The requirements for a major in Political Science are as follows:

A minimum of 30 semester hours in Political Science to include Political Science 201-202, 303 or 304, 305 or 306; Philosophy 201; six semester hours in modern European or American History; Mathematics to include the elements of computer programming and statistics. Students who expect to take advanced work in international relations or to enter graduate studies in political science are urged to include calculus and computer systems in their course work.

A concentration in Political Science and Economics will require the completion of a minimum of 18 semester hours in each field and such cognate courses as the departments of Political Science and Economics may prescribe for each individual student.

A concentration in Political Science and History will require the completion of a minimum of 18 semester hours in each field and such cognate courses as the departments of Political Science and History may prescribe for each individual student.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 201-202. (0-6)

The American System of Government. A study of the theory and practice of national, state, and local government in the United States. The constitutional basis of the federal system, the power of the national government, the position of the states and their subdivisions, and the scope of civil rights are studied, with frequent reference to leading Supreme Court decisions and other primary sources. After the structure of the federal government and its broadening area of functions and services have been considered, the course concludes with an examination of state and local government.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 302. (3)

Political Theory. This study includes an analysis of the main currents of western political thought. Use is made of the original writings of men who have had the greatest influence in shaping modern ideas and institutions. Prerequisite, Political Science 201-202.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 303-304. (3-3)

Government, Politics and Foreign Policies of the Major Powers. The first semester includes a survey of the leading political systems of Europe, their internal structure and development and their external role in the international system. Particular emphasis is placed on Great Britain, France and Germany. The United States is used as a basis of reference. The second semester is devoted principally to the study of the major Communist regimes, with emphasis on the Soviet Union and Communist China in their internal and external aspects. Finally, the course considers the major non-Western powers, particularly Japan and India. The impact of non-Western values on United States policy is discussed. Prerequisite, Political Science 201-202.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 305-306. (3-3)

International Relations. The first semester includes a study of various concepts and theories of international relations. The second semester presents a survey of the international relations of various regions: Latin America, Western Europe, the Communist bloc, Far East, South and Southeast Asia, Middle East and Africa. Prerequisite, not open to freshmen.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 307. (3)

The Far East in World Affairs. An area study of the Far East to outline the principal historical, cultural, economic, sociological, and strategic factors which have influenced its role in the international community. Prerequisite, not open to freshmen.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 310. (3)

American Foreign Policy. A survey of the history of American diplomacy from the Revolution to the present, with an analysis of the national interest, national objectives, and role of the United States in the international community. Included is a study of the diplomatic process, particularly the role of the President and the Department of State in foreign affairs. Prerequisite, Political Science 201-202.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 401-402. (0-6)

American Constitutional Law. In the light of changing political, social, and economic problems in the United States, this study follows the development of the American Constitution through judicial interpretation. ## WESTERN MAN

This two-year program is required of all students. Its aim is to provide the comprehensive view of Western culture implicit in a liberal education and to counteract the tendency toward the fragmentation of knowledge in strictly departmentalized studies.

Members of various departments participate as a team in teaching this course. The course examines in chronological sequence the most creative societies affecting Western Man, and its study of great books and great ideas includes attention to history, philosophy, literature, art, and political and economic thought. Class work consists of lecture sessions, in which all participants meet together, and discussion sessions, for which small groups meet with faculty leaders.

WESTERN MAN 101-102. (0-10)

A study of the problems facing modern man, Old Testament, Greek civilization, Roman civilization, New Testament, the European Middle Ages and the Renaissance.

WESTERN MAN 201-202. (0-6)

A study of the Renaissance and Reformation in Western Europe, and of European and American civilization to the twentieth century. Prerequisite, Western Man 101-102.
